The following list is a compilation of Clan Genealogists or Clan points of contact for genealogy (for the Scottish Clans and Family Associations). The amount of information available from these genealogists varies greatly, with some having extensive records. For example, the clan genealogist for Clan Scott maintains a database of all SCOTTs and is a coordinator of the SCOTT One Name Society. He has about 53,000 records on file dealing with more than 2,000 family lines. The clan genealogist/historian for Clan Barclay also is a coordinator for the BARCLAY One Name Society. She has about 19,000 BARCLAY/BARKLEY and collateral names on file dealing with 125 family lines. The Clan Morrison historian has a 6,000-name database of MORRISON families in the U.S. and Canada.

Some clans have genealogy committees. When I learn about them I will include committee members in this listing. Some of these members only cover one or a few states. In these cases, I note the states that particular member covers. Also, some clan genealogists specialize in one surname of a clan. Clan MacKay, for example, has many surname genealogists. I am listing these surnames under the parent clan with a note (i.e., See also Mackie). The actual genealogist and his/her address will be listed under the surname (i.e., Mackie).

For some clans, more than one society exists. In some of these cases the societies are affiliated -- as is the case for the Clan MacLaren Society (in Scotland) and the Clan MacLaren Society of North America. In other cases the societies are competing societies. Additionally, some of these societies may not be endorsed by the Clan Chief. I am not making any statement about these competing societies. I am just listing genealogists for any society that has established genealogists. My intent is to provide information that will assist those of Scottish descent in tracing their genealogies, not to judge the merits of competing societies.

This listing also includes email addresses and home pages. I'm including the home pages since these web sites often have genealogical information. However, not all of this information is well documented. Without documentation (i.e., sources of the information) it is impossible to evaluate the completeness of the research behind the information. Therefore, use any information with inadequate documentation with caution. Consider it a guide that must be further checked.

I've found that email addresses and home page URLs change faster than I can check them. So, please check your email addresses and home page URLs. If they are incorrect, or if I don't show one, send me an corrected email address or URL and I will include them in future updates of this listing.

The list is alphabetical. However, since Mc is an abbreviation of Mac, I am treating Mac and Mc as the same and am listing them as if they were Mac.

If you do write to any of these genealogists, include a stamped self addressed envelope for them to reply. Also, do not expect them to do your research for you. In most cases, I'm sure they will respond to a reasonable, limited request if you give details of the information being sought -- if they have the information readily available. (In some cases, the genealogists only provide assistance to clan or association members.) And don't forget to give them copies of your genealogy so they can expand their databases. If you call any of these genealogists, please do so before 9:00 p.m. in the evening (their time).

I distribute this list at the Scottish Games I attend. This list is now on the Internet, on the web page of the Ellen Payne Odom Genealogy Library in Moultrie, Georgia (URL <http://www.teleport.com/~binder/famtree.shtml>) and on the web page of the National Genealogical Society (URL <http://www.ngsgenealogy.org>). I am starting to send copies of this list via email to those genealogists who have email (and I have their email address). This list may be copied freely. Any computer bulletin board (BBS), genealogical or clan society, or web page, that wishes to maintain a copy may do so. Also, anyone (including BBSs, genealogical societies, or clan societies) that wishes to pass out copies of this list free of charge may do so. If you do post a copy, or pass out copies, please include this introductory page (with date and copyright notice) and the afterword. While this list may be freely copied, it may not be sold or used for any other commercial purpose.

I'm sure that this list is not complete and I need help in maintaining it. See the last page of this list for societies that I know exist, but for which I do not know a genealogist. If you have any additions or corrections, please write to me at the address above, or email me. Please include the following information: Name of genealogist and title; name of society; postal address, phone number (if he/she wants it published) and email address of genealogist; and society web page. I update this list several times a year, so if your list is over a year old, a more current list has been distributed.

Additionally, not everyone who lived in Scotland belonged to a Clan -- about 70 percent of the Scottish families did not have a direct Clan affiliation. While some Family Associations have formed for some of these families, many are still without a Clan or Family Association tie. If this is the case for your surname(s), there is an association for you that is worth while checking out. This is the Scottish District Families Association. Their web site is <http://web.infoave.net/~jmcdaris/sdfa.html>.

AFTERWORD

As I said in my introduction, this list is not complete. I checked the list of Clan Societies in the Directory Issue (April 1998) of The Highlander and found quite a few societies for which I do not have a genealogist. These societies are listed below. If you know of a genealogist for one of these societies, please let me know. Or, if your society is listed below and does not yet have a genealogist, I strongly encourage you to elect or appoint one (and let me know his/her name and address).
